The City Council Postpones Action on the Mayor's Nomination

OF COL. TWEEDDALE FOR ENGINEER.

An Effort to mave the Trees on Tyler

The city council met last night in regular monthly session, but the meeting was short. All the members seemed to have the weight of the coming election on their minds and they were anxious to get away and after the routine business was disposed of an adjournment was

The mayor presented the name of William Tweeddale for confirmation as city engineer. Councilman Fellows said: "It seems to me that we could get along without a city engineer for a time. Mr. McCabe can look after the work done on the sewer and bridge and that will be all the work for the engineer to do during the winter. That will prove quite a saving to the city and we should practice what we preach now that we have the we preach now that we have the oppor-

The changing of the grade and cutting down of the parks on Tyler street has not yet been settled, and D. H. Moore presented the following statement in reference to the matter

"In the spring of 1867 I laid out a park, built a park fence and planted trees in front of lots Nos. 163, 165 and 167 on Tyler street. After the trees had become large, and during the time Joel Huntoon was city engineer the street was cut down to grade and at the same time my park was lowered, which took out all the trees. The School Board Transact Some Business Last Evening.

The board of education met around its new table in the high school last night. The table is sixteen feet long and five and one-half feet wide, and Jesse Shaw as president pro tem sat, at the head of the table, with Mr. Beck at the foot, and Messra. Thomas, MacFerran and Wilson on one side, and Messrs. Squires, Priddy and Miller on the other. It is a nice, big table, covered with green cloth, and so wide that the members can't kick each other under it, and so long Mr. Shaw had to put his hand to his ear to hear Mr. Beck.

It would be a nice table to shoot craps on if there was a string tied to the dice to pull them back with. If any measure were "laid on the table," it would require a surveying expedition to find it.

It is so big, in fact, that it cost $5.90 to have it from the depot. The members comedian, and others are in the cast. were greatly pleased with it and took out the drawers and examined them. Rev. ALBERT BARTON ARRESTED

B. Whaley's Peace. Albert Barton, the well known Republican ward worker, was arrested at the Second precinct in the Fifth ward early this morning on a charge of disturbing the peace of E. B. Whaley one of the election judges.

Mr. E. B. Whaley was in charge of the Republican campaigu in Shawnee county two years ago, but he is now a Populist and was one of the principals in the first election row in Topska today. Mr. Whaley has always been one of the "bosses" in the Fifth ward, but at this election he is a Populist "boss" instead of a Republican.

Mr. Whaley is member of the election board in the second precinct in the Fifth ward and in this same precinct two of the most prominent Republicans are Albert and Robert Barton, who are said to carry the colored Republican vote of the precinct in their pockets. The Bartons were present when the election board of this precinct was organized a few minutes before 8 o'clock this morning. E. B. Whaley, Populist; John G. Shillinglaw, Democrat with Populist leanings and J. H. Seybold were down for election judges. In organizing the board Mr. Whaley directed that Mr. Seybold should mark the ballots that Mr. Seybold should mark the bullots to which the Bartons objected as they said they wanted the board organized so that the Republican judge would be one of the judges to go into the booth to assist the ignorant voters who need help in marking their ballots.

Albert Barton then insisted that the Republicans should be allowed three men inside of the building to assist in checking their poll book and in chal-

Mr. Whatey produced a long list of instructions from the commissioner of elections and ruled that but one challenger would be allowed and he must mark the poll book. Albert Barton then talked-he had to talk loud in order to be heard-and said Mr. Whaley should go according to law and the law allows three challengers in the polling place.

Mr. Whaley then telephoned for the police, and when Captain Gish and a squad of officers arrived he ordered Barton arrested.

Captain Gish took Barton to police headquarters, where Chief Lindsey fixed his bond at $50, and demanded a cash bond. After some time he relegted, however, and consented to take an ordinary bond, and Judge Joseph Reed secured Barton's release before 10 o'clock. As soon as Barton was released he went back to his precinct and took charge of the Republican poll book.

The dean is a picturesque figure in the low crowned, broad brimmed soft felt hat, the long black coat over a short cassock, and the knee breeches and black stockings affected by the English clergy. The principal object of the dean's lecture tour is to secure money sufficient to complete the restoration of the Norman nave in the Rochester cathedral. This nave is the oldest in all England and is one of the finest specimens of ecclesiastical architecture in the country. When asked if he believed in home rule, the dean replied, "Yes, I do, but my wife won't let me."
